

Due diligence. Done.

Business solutions are a big investment—of time and of money. Look to the Short List to save both.

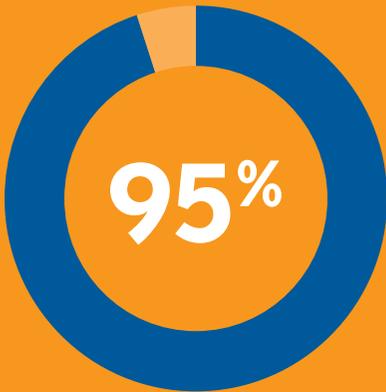

Short List products, services, and ROI calculators have earned the designation “Peer Reviewed by HFMA.”

That means they’ve been vetted by people like you—HFMA members, healthcare finance professionals who demand results—along with a team of experts from HFMA, and they’ve gotten top scores across the board.

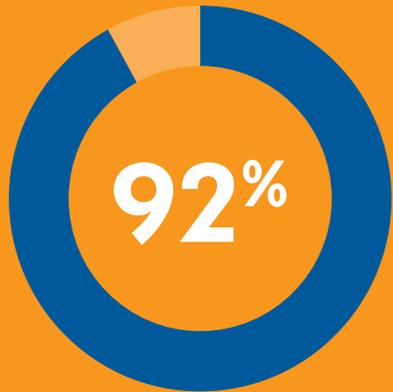

So whether you’re looking for healthcare IT products, software-as-a-service, financial processes, ROI calculators, or consultants, you can be confident you’re looking at high-quality business solutions that offer good value for the price.

When you can save time without skipping a step, why start anywhere else?

High-quality, high-value products and services

The nine-step Peer Review process uses a set of strict criteria to review business solutions in the areas that matter most to today's healthcare finance professionals.

Effectiveness. Does it improve a process or productivity?

Quality and usability. Is the company known for integrity?

Accuracy and reliability. Does the product or service draw on practical industry knowledge and experience?

Value. Is value commensurate with price? Are the values implicit in the product or service compatible with the values shared by HFMA members?

Customer service and technical support. Does the company address customer's needs quickly and effectively?

ROI Calculators that deliver

A dedicated panel of senior financial leaders, analysts, and customers validates return-on-investment (ROI) calculators claiming ROI. HFMA's thorough and objective assessment ensures the calculators' metrics are clearly defined, complete, appropriate, and relevant. The panel also verifies that customers have achieved credible value as it relates to cost. This Peer Review validation helps you save time as your organization considers business solutions aimed at increasing revenue and/or decreasing expenses.

About HFMA

With more than 40,000 members, the Healthcare Financial Management Association (HFMA) is the nation's premier membership organization for healthcare finance leaders. HFMA builds and supports coalitions with other healthcare associations and industry groups to achieve consensus on solutions for the challenges the U.S. healthcare system faces today. Working with a broad cross-section of stakeholders, HFMA identifies gaps throughout the healthcare delivery system and bridges them by establishing and sharing knowledge and best practices. We help healthcare stakeholders achieve optimal results by creating and providing education, analysis, and practical tools and solutions. Our mission is to lead the financial management of health care.

The due diligence process

1

Screen applicants for quality, credibility, and fit

2

Identify customers who chose the solution, and who didn't

3

Select reviewers—objective healthcare finance professionals

4

Administer survey

5

Compile results and produce weighted score sheet

6

Conduct legal review of firm

7

Analyze score sheet and all supporting documents

8

Award "Peer Reviewed" designation

9

Re-assess at 18-month interval

Only 1 of every 3 applicants makes it to the Short List.

Being an HFMA Peer Review panelist is a rewarding experience and an honor. Each Peer Review product or service must go through a lot of scrutiny to earn this distinguished designation. Personally, it has given me much greater appreciation for companies that choose to endure this process with the goal of achieving this designation for their products and services.
